👤 PROFILE

After falling in love with video editing back in college (2009 - holy crap) I nurtured my innate skill into a powerful, preferably humorous editing voice. I've spent the last 5 years working as an editor + producer at BuzzFeed Inc. specializing in editing nerd/gaming, food, and queer content. While I'm not editing, I'm streaming as a Partner on Twitch.

📁 EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

Producer at BuzzFeed Inc., Los Angeles
August 2019 — December 2020

After becoming the most senior editor in the post department at BuzzFeed, I wanted to expand my skills to in front of and behind the camera and moved over to the Multiplayer team as a producer. Producers at BuzzFeed are tasked with the entire video creation process, from ideation/brainstorming, pre-production, project coordination, casting, on-set production, cam-op, sound-op, lighting, studio talent, as well as editing + motion graphics production. While the overall quality of my videos was not in question by the higher-ups, sadly I failed to create viral hits and was let go.

Video Editor at BuzzFeed Inc, Los Angeles
October 2015 — August 2019

After a two-month trial hire that involved editing the likes of The Try Guys and classic BuzzFeed taste-test format videos, I was brought on full time as one of two editors (before a post department even existed at BF!) The years that followed had me tasked with editing numerous shows (Try Guys, LadyLike, Worth It, You Do You, Unsolved) as well as various videos filmed across various departments at BuzzFeed. For a brief stint, I was also editing Tasty videos which are...pure internet gold. Over these years I honed my skills within the Adobe Creative Suite (Premiere, After Effects, Photoshop, Illustrator) as well as general storytelling and editing skills utilized in the scripted and unscripted internet video space.

Senior Video Editor at 15Four, Baltimore
July 2013 — July 2015

Fresh out of a college internship, I was brought on full time as an editor at 15Four, a small video studio in Baltimore that specialized in commercial and B2B content. It wasn't very fun stuff for the creative side of the brain, but it helped me cut my teeth in the world of video post production, and learn the basics of data organization/transfer, transcoding, exporting, consolidating media. It also taught me how to "act around clients" which was very helpful for younger Jared. I can now certify a 92% success rate of not embarrassing myself in meetings or professional emails.

🎓 EDUCATION

BFA Visual Arts, University of Maryland, Baltimore County, Baltimore
August 2009 — May 2013

Honestly, I felt I learned maybe 5% of my current skills in editing during college. Mostly this was where I learned to have confidence in myself and be a team leader as part of the on-campus student board.
